Scott,

The pictures below were taken last Monday. The area under water by the deck is the area that Hoquiam River RV is losing their bank. This is within the city limits.

The second photo is the apartment complex just upstream. The river overflowed its banks at that location.

Hello Scott,

Based upon our discussion yesterday, here is a Hoquiam property that also needs some bank stabilization. It would be great if we could help protect this RV Park. The Levee project many protect the site from flooding depending upon the alignment but it will not solve the bank stabilization issues. Thanks.

-Brian

Hi Brian. Good to meet with you this morning.

Regarding the river bank and the Chehalis Flood Authority, please see these attached pics. I took these pictures over the last couple years, and you can see the undercutting and erosion of the bank.

Like you said, perhaps we can do something to address the river bank and the levee project at the same time.

Thank you. -- Chris
