Subject: Local Funding

All – I am working on a request from Sen. Braun’s office to calculate local contribution to flood hazard reduction in the Chehalis Basin. I’d like to ask you to think about the investments your communities are making in the name of flood hazard reduction. In particular I am interested in efforts one would consider above and beyond what like communities would typically invest in were it not for the flooding issue. I think additionally the efforts of communities like Centralia and Lewis County to gain more favorable CRS ratings is another good example of “above and beyond local contribution.” We will talk more about this at next Thursday’s Flood Authority Meeting, however I wanted to put this before you in advance to spur your thinking. I will also be following up with each of you in the next week. Thanks.
Scott
