Incident Summary: Staff at the West Bay Marina reported that the P/C Louis, a 45' pleasure craft, partially sank while moored in a covered dock. Recent heavy snow weighed down the roof of the boat house, pushing the dock into the water, submerging the vessel and causing it to sink. West Bay Marina hired a local salvage company to refloat the vessel, and an estimated 45 gallons of gasoline spilled before the vessel was raised. None of the oil was recovered in the first 24 hours of the spill.
