STATEMENT OF WORK AND BUDGET

Regional Spill Reporting Hotline – Feasibility Study

The goal of this study is to gather information and conduct an assessment on the feasibility for a regional or statewide common “hotline” number for citizens and municipal staff in Washington State to report spills and environmental incidents. This project is a Source Identification Information Repository (SIDIR) project as part of the Stormwater Action Monitoring (SAM) program overseen by the Stormwater Work Group (SWG). SWG is a collaborative regional coalition of municipal, county, and state agencies. The Source Identification subgroup of SWG will serve as a Technical Advisory Committee for this project.

Due to the variety of municipal reporting options across the region, and the varied levels on internal training, spill reporting and response are challenged and less coordinated than they may have the potential to be. The goal for a new hotline would be to collate the reporting of regional spills in a single location, thereby creating efficiencies, reducing confusion, and improving response times to reported spills. A single regional hotline would also ensure reporting and data collection standardization, assist with regional standardization of response actions, promote mutual aid assistance on large and crossjurisdictional spill, and provide uniform standards for notification and requesting state resources. Additionally, this centralized resource would direct reports to the correct municipal/county agency while recording regional spills in a searchable database to track trends and responses, which may help to identify spill prevention measures and outreach opportunities.

Objectives:
- Interview/survey municipal and state spill report/response program staff to understand overarching trends and solutions
- Research existing reporting services/software to identify potential resources
- Recommendations for development or identification of a customizable database and linked phone system

Outcomes and Tasks
- Outcome: Report on results of municipal spill hotline research
- Outcome: Specifications for a phone system linked to customized database
- Outcome: Funding and implementation strategy for the hotline
- Task 1: Project management, meetings
- Task 2: Municipal and state agency research
- Task 3: System research
- Task 4: Data analysis, report, review process, recommendations

Task 1: Project Management and Meetings (Total Cost $10,005.00)

King County is responsible for the management and coordination of the work defined in this Agreement. Tasks 2 - 4 represent the labor and expenses associated with scheduling, coordination, and quality control services for this work. King County and its sub consultants will provide management measures including:
- Status reports to Ecology regarding progress and budget over the prior 6 months and cumulative project term.
- Biannual invoices.
• Maintenance of project files.
• Ensure deliverables meet applicable ADA requirements.

Deliverable 1.1 Biannual Project Progress Reports
$4,502.25 Target Date: Biannually at the end of June and December (4 total)

Deliverable 1.2 Quarterly Meetings
$5,502.75 Target Date: Quarterly (8 total)

Task 2: Municipal and State Research (Total Cost $41,850.00)

King County will develop a series of interview questions meant to gather information from municipal and state staff regarding spill reporting and response. Upon approval of questionnaire by the SWG Source Identification Subgroup, King County will conduct interviews with participating municipalities, local, and state agencies. The purpose of this interview will be to:

• Conduct research into municipal and state spill report/response programs in order to understand overarching trends and solutions across the region, and more firmly establish the goals and scope of a potential new system.
• Gather recommendations from municipalities and state agencies for incorporation of a new hotline into existing funding and marketing strategies.
• Gather input on new funding and marketing strategies.

The compiled information will be collated and analyzed, and conveyed through a final report.

Deliverable 2.1 Draft Interview Questionnaire
$9,000.00 Target Date: 2/28/2019

Deliverable 2.2 Interview Questionnaire and Completed Surveys
$32,850.00 Target Date: 7/31/2019

Task 3: System Research (Total Cost $12,000.00)

King County will research existing hotline programs and databases and identify and describe two to three options for the Source Identification Subgroup to choose from. Criteria for the service(s) ought to consider:

• Customizable database linked to the system used to communicate the spill (including but not limited to phone, email, or app for example).
• Database capable of auto-populating certain fields with information from the incoming call.
• Capable of geo-location of incoming calls and inputted addresses and the ability to present inputted address/locations as a geo-located pin on a map.
• A way to accommodate many users with unique login for database.
• Reports and details visible to all users.
• Capable of allowing multiple agencies to update individual reports as status or ownership change.
• The difference between the public and private methods for interacting with the data.
• The costs of initial setup and ongoing implementation.
• Other resource needs (i.e. data or cloud storage, data transmission, archive system, safeguards of personal information).

The King County will present the pros and cons of each of the two to three selected options. These characteristics will include, but are not limited to, ease of use, ease of customization, and costs including startup costs and estimated on-going maintenance, operation, and upgrade costs for each option. The compiled information will be collated and analyzed, and conveyed through a final technical memorandum.
Task 4: Data Analysis and Report (Total Cost $96,000.00)

King County will collate and analyze all data gathered from the interviews and the systems research. A formal analysis will be conveyed through a final report.

King County will prepare a report documenting the results of Task 2 and Task 3 activities, and provide recommended next-steps of implementation including, but not limited to:

- How to address existing gaps or challenges being faced.
- How to implement successful ideas into overall program.
- Three service options best suited to this program with benefits and challenges of each reviewed
- Marketing recommendations to best incorporate this resource into the municipal systems, and the public’s notice.

King County will submit a draft report for review by selected personnel. Upon receipt of comments, King County will prepare a final report.

- Draft outline in Microsoft Word electronic file format
- Draft Report in Microsoft Word electronic file format.
